

Andrew looks for more big hits

ANDREW Gould rode Natasha Mitchell's grey gelding Mitchell's Santorini Hit in the dressage Small Tour in the Compiègne CDI 3*. On the first day, he was fifth in the Prix St George, before deciding to compete in the Intermediare I Kur on the second day, with a sassy freestyle routine made up of Bryan Adams' Run to You and Rob Dougan's Will You Follow Me?, finishing with a score of 70.62 per cent to win the class.

This was Andrew's first international win and he will now put himself forward for two home international competitions this month. "This horse is getting better and better with every show," said Andrew. "He has so much quality and I am hoping to compete him at Hartpury CDI 3* and Hickstead CDI 3*, as he's on fire at the moment."

Andrew and Mitchell's Santorini Hit are getting ready for two international competitions this month.
