

Andrew and Mitchell's Santorini Hit win International Kur!

Andrew Gould travelled to the Compiègne CDI 3* in early June to compete in the dressage Small Tour with Natasha Mitchell's grey gelding Mitchell's Santorini Hit. The pair has been constantly well placed over the past few months and Mitchell's Santorini Hit proved to be on-form in France following his win the week before at Somerford.

On the first day Andrew was fifth in the Prix St George. Andrew then decided to compete in the Intermediare I Kur on the second day with his enjoyable freestyle routine made up of Bryan Adams' 'Run to You' for the trot work and Rob Dougan's 'Will you Follow Me?' for the walk and canter. They were very successful with a score of 70.62% to win the class – Andrew's first international win!

Andrew will now put himself forward for selection for the two home International competitions in July. Andrew explained: "This horse is getting better and better with every show, he has so much quality. I am hoping to compete him at Hartpury CDI 3* and Hickstead CDI 3* as he is on fire at the moment!"
