

Marathon men

Equestrians swapped horsepower for running shoes to raise money for good causes in the London Marathon. International dressage riders Andrew Gould (pictured) and Daniel Timson both crossed the finish line, as did show jumper Tim Gredley.

Other finishers included Martin Balmer, managing director of animal health and equine wholesaler Trilanco.